

ARMENIAN AMERICAN MEDICAL SOCIETY OF CALIFORNIA

Presents:

“Key Issues in the Diagnosis and Management of Osteoporosis”

Speaker

John P. Bilezikian, M.D.

Professor of Medicine

College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University

Chief of Endocrinology

Director, Metabolic Bone Diseases Program

At

Columbia University Medical Center

Date: Tuesday, October 28, 2008 @ 7 p.m.

Place: Phoenicia

343 N. Central Avenue, Glendale

Target Audience: Internists, Family Physicians, General Practitioners, Cardiologists, Nurses, GI specialists, Physician’s Assistants, Pharmacists, OB-GYN, Pain Management, Anesthesiologists, Chiropractics, Psychiatrists and Psychologists.

Upon Completion of these ongoing activities, the physician will be able to

1. To review the epidemiological and economic importance of osteoporosis.
2. To present a new approach to deciding who to treat with pharmacological agents for osteoporosis
3. To present information on the efficacy and safety of bisphosphonates
4. To discuss key issues in the management of osteoporosis.

This program is sponsored by Sanofi-Aventis. Accommodation for disability.